As is usually the case, the visitors could not solve McGuire's puzzling delivery. He fanned out sixteen of their batters and allowed them only one hit.

The features of the game were John Greenway's home-run hit over left field fence and a phenomenal catch of a fly back of second base by Abbott that seemed certain for a base hit. Following is the score by innings:

The Foot Bridge Broke.

BRADFORD, Pa., May 30.—At the conclusion f the Bradford-Meadville ball game this afternoon the wooden foot bridge across the Tuna creek, leading to the Association Park, gave way under the crush of people, pre-cipitating two hundred men and boys into the creek. Six persons were quite seriously injured. A great many others received slight hurts and a severe shaking up.

'REFORMED PRESBYTERIANS.

Repetition of the Stormy Scenes Precipitated...The General Assembly.

PITTSBURG, PA., May 30 .- The Reformed Presbyterian Synod resumed business at 10:30 o'clock this morning. The clerk had just concluded reading the minutes of yesterday's stormy session, when Professor D. B. Wilson arose and objected to the incorporating in the minutes that part of yesterday's proceedings referring to Dr. McAllister's attempt to read from a letter written by one of the suspended ministers, and which action was the cause of all the trouble. Almost instantly half a dozen all the trouble. Almost instantly half a dozen clergymen clamored for recognition. The moderator could do nothing but wield his gavel, which he did most vigorously, while cries of "order," "order" came from all parts of the house. In a moment the scene was confusion worse than confounded, almost every delegate being on his feet and shouting at the top of his voice. Finally order was restored, and one minister after another entered vigorous protests against changing stored, and one minister after another emer-ed vigorous protests against changing the record. The conduct of Rev. Dr. McAllister came in for another round for the severe comments for attempting to read a private letter. The spirited scene was only brought to a close by the very dewas only brought to a close by the very de-termined moderator demanding that the dis-cussion and personalities cease. It was finally decided, however, to expurge from the minutes all that part of the proceedings re-ferring to Dr. McAllister and the resolution of censure.

Rev. T. P. Stevenson then presented a series of resolutions providing for a compromise of the difficulties existing between the Church and her suspended ministers, stipulating that the Synod, instead of proceeding to a formal trial of the accused, take up anew the consideration of the principles and duties of the Church. of the Church.
A motion to pass the resolutions led to another lively wrangle, and not until the roll had been called was it known that the majority favored the plan proposed.

Reports of committees and the several Presbyteries were then submitted and refer-

At 12:30 the session adjourned until Monday morning.

The General Assembly.

DETROIT, MICH, May 30 .- This morning all was quiet in the Presbyterian Assembly. The attendance was light, and the time of the Assembly was taken up by the reception and consideration of the overtures made by the various Presbyteries. A rule was adopted requiring all ministers who did not report their field of labor at least once a year to be put on a reserved list.

The overture of the Presbytery of Stockton against the practice of retiring board secreta-ries on salaries was reported unfavorably.

There was a discussion of service pensions and minor overtures until noon, when the Assembly ajourned for the day.

This afternoon the commissioners were taken for a steamboat ride on the Detroit river and Lake St. Claire, as the guests of the Detroit Parket Description. troit Presbyterians.

Dr. Vandyke's Funeral.

Brooklin, N. Y.. May 30.—The funeral services over the remains of the Rev. Henry Vandyke were held this morning at the Second Presbyterian church. The edifice was crowded with mourners. An elaborate display of floral tributes testified to the esteem of the parishioners for the dead clergyman. The remains will lie in state in the church until 2 o'clock to-morrow morning, when they will be taken to Greenwood Cemetery, where they will repose temporarily and then be taken to Philadelphia.

Destructive Blaze.

Waphalen, N. D., May 30.—A fire broke out in A. A. Selers' warehouse at 2 P. M., and at 2:20 twenty buildings west of Sixth street and south of Dakota avenue were burning. This included the Great Northern Depot, several box cars, the People's bank, Rices' Machinery House, Sechuler Brothers' double building, Giddings block and the Western Union telegraph office. A high wind is blowing, and it now seems probable that the fire will jump Dakota avenue and burn the north side of the town.

Senator Stanford Has a Show.

New Yonk, May 30.—A Washington, D. C., special says Senator Stanford, of California, is a probability for the presidential nomination at the hands of the new party. He is very popular among the rank and file of the Farmers' Alliance. It is said, moreover, that the feeling is growing rapidly, and that in Kansas, Nebraska, in parts of Colorado, and in Nevada the prediction is already made that Stanford will get the nomination.

Crushed by a Wall.

Crushed by a Wall.

Chicago, May 30.—Three laborers were fatally and two slightly injured by the falling of a dead wall at 161 south Canal street to-day. The men were tearing down the walls when suddenly the whole front wall came tumbling down, burying beneath the debris the unfortunate workmen. Lars Orson, Charles Fifer and Charles Norman will probably die of their injuries.

Supper to Cavalrymen.

Dr. Wheat last night tendered an elegant supper at the Commercial Cafe to the staff of the First Virginia regiment of cavalry. Among those present were: Major Bidgood, Dr. Edward McGuire, Adjutant Kirk Mathews, Sergeant-Major J. C. Small, Captain Henry Boykin, Major Percy Hawes, Major Wickham, and others,

WORK OF THE BOAT CREWS.

High Water and Mud in the Virginia Boat Boat-House.

ATHLETIC ASSOCIATION. PROPOSED

The Y. M. C. A .- The Appomattox, the Richmond College and the Petersburg University Boys all Making Long Strokes.

The past week has been rather unfortunate for many in this city. On account of the rain for several days the boys of the Virginia Boat Club were unable to use the boats.

On Friday morning the James river paid a rather unexpected visit to the boat-house, and before nightfall the water covered the lower floor about four feet deep. All the boats had been removed to the upper part of the building in good season and no harm was done outside of the mud, which was thick when the water fell yesterday afternoon.

The boys who were at the boat-house at that time went to work with a will, and within three hours the building was once more in passable condition. The gangway, which had been partially destroyed by the flood, will be repaired to-morrow, and by to-morrow afternoon the boys will be able to go down the river again, provided that there will be no other rise.

RICHMOND COLLEGE CREW. The crew from the Richmond College Boat The crew from the Richmond College Boat Club practiced several afternoons during the past week under the supervision of Mr. James C. Lamb, who is training them. Mr. Lamb has just selected his crew, consisting of the following young men: John Reed, bow: Athoy, 2; Clements, 3; D. H. Rucker, stroke; Burnett, coxswain; J. E. Etcheson, Jr., and F. W. Duke, substitutes.

Y. M. C. A. CLUB, The Boat Club of the Young Men's Christian Association is progressing very nicely.

A lease has been secured for a plot of ground west of the Virginia boat-house, on Mayo's Island, on similar terms as those of the Virginia boat house of the Virgini reinia, and the contract for the construction of the building will be awarded to-morrow.

The front of the building will be fifty feet along the river and the depth thirty-five feet. The house will be twelve feet high with a pitch of five feet for the roof. A dressing-room with fifty lockers and baths will be par-titioned off. At the next meeting of the executive board on Friday evening applications for member-ship will be received.

ship will be received.

The applications must be presented in writing, and must be accompanied by the membership fee of $5.

At the same meeting the committee on boats shall submit a report, recommending the purchase of the most desirable boats. It is expected that within about a month the boats of the club will be floating in the river.

PROPOSED ATHLETIC ASSOCIATION. During the past few days the feasibility of organizing a first-class Atlantic Association in this city has been ventilated by a number of citizens who are deeply interested in athletic

There would not be found a more desirable spot for the establishment of athletic grounds than on Mayo's Island south of the roadway.

If these grounds could be secured a very fine base-ball field could be fitted up. Provision could also be made for foot-ball, lawn

Like in other cities, a track for racing and walking could be laid out around the ball-field, and a cinder path for bicycles would also be very desirable.

A GYMNASIUM, The best location for the building of the Asisland. Of course the building would have to have a solid stone foundation strong enough to resist the force of the river in times of freshets.

It has been suggested that the lower part of the building will be devoted to boating, while the next floor could contain a gymnasium and bowling-alleys. The rest of the building could be fitted up as reading-rooms, reception-rooms,

Ac.
The idea of starting such an Athletic Association is very favorably thought of by the few who, up to the present time, have been conversed with on the subject.
The only difficulty seems to be the raising of sufficient capital to start the organization. secure the grounds, and erect a suitable building, but it is regarded as not only possible but probable that the necessary amount can be raised in this city for that purpose. If once started it would be comparatively an easy matter to support the association from membership fees.

ROWING IN THE COCKADE CITY.

The Appointtox Boat Club, of Petersburg, is at present in a very flourishing condition.
The club has about forty-five active members, and whenever the weather is favorable the and whenever the weather is lavorable the boats can be seen on the river. A remarkable feature is the lively interest in rowing, as shown by the lady friends of the members. Hardly an afternoon passes but a num-ber of ladies accompany the members up and down the river. Several large parties have al-ready been held and several more will be gotready been held and several more will be got-ten up during the next few weeks.

The fleet of the club has received a very important addition in an elegant naphta launch, thirty-one feet long, which has re-cently been purchased at an expense of $1,500.

The launch is fitted up with all the latest improvements, and has a seating accommoda-tions for thirty people.

Notwithstanding the fact that the members have in the naptha launch an easy means of moving about on the river, the interest in rowing has not decreased, and frequently the gigs of the club can be seen in use.

It is very probable that a cre w from the Appomattox Club will take part in the four-oared gig race at the State regatta on July 4lh.

THE UNIVERSETY CLUB.

The boat club of the University Club of Petersburg is progressing as well as can be expected with the limited means at the disposal of the young men. Owing to the fact that it is necessary to put a new tin roof on the boat-house, the members of the club have decided not to purchase any new boats this season, and they have, therefore, been compelled to give up the idea of entering a crew in the coming State regatta. They hope, however, to be able next year to successfully enter the race.

THE MOZART MUSICALE.

Appearance of the "Whistling Patti" Summer-Night Programme.

The regular Mozart musicale occurs to-morrow night. The evening will be of especial interest on account of the appearance of Miss interest on account of the appearance of Miss Mabel Stillman, the popular lady whistler. She is called the "The Wistling Patti," and her success the past two or three seasons has proved her worthy of the name.

The gathering at the church to pay the last respects to Mr. Ellerson was one of the largest known on such occasions. The remains were carried to Hollywood for interment. The weather was threatening, but happily not a drop of rain fell during the hour appointed for the service.

Kicked Down a Ravine.

Little Maud, the thirteen-year-old daughter of Colonel Charles P. Bigger, assistant super-intendent of the colored almshouse, while out gathering flowers a few days since was ac-costed by an unknown colored woman, who, without any provocation whatever, kicked the little girl down an embankment about fif teen feethigh. Though much bruised, she was able to walk home and report the occurrence to her family. Colonel Bigger immediately swore out a warrant for the arrest of Martha Christian, the supposed asssilant, but as yet she had not been found.

NEW BERTH FOR NOBLE.

Believed That the Secretary Will Be Given a Diplomatic Position.

Washington, D.C., May 30 .- [Special.] -- Persons in official circles are inclined to believe that Secretary Noble is booked for a diplomatic position. It is thought that he will be selected to take the place of Minister Smith at St. Petersburg, or in the event that Minister Lincoln is chosen to fill the vacancy in the Cabinet, which the probable appointment of Secretary Proctor in place of Senator Education of Senator Education of Secretary Proctor in place of Senator Education of Senator Educati secretary Proctor in place of Senator Ed-munds will cause, that Secretary Noble will be sent to the Court of St. James. Secretary Noble has had no end of trouble, particularly with the Pension Office, and there is no doubt that he would be glad to retire from the Cabinet.

WHAT SENATOR PETTIGREW SAYS.

New York, May 39.—Private dispatches from Washington to-day contained the information that Secretary Noble was about to resign. In order to confirm these reports a reporter called on Senator Pettigrew, of South Dakota, who is supposed to have received some assurance that the Secretary him of the

The Senator spoke freely, yet with deliberation, and understood that the interview was publication. He was asked if he had heard of the rumored resignation of Secretary Noble.

Hersplied. "I received information lest experience." of the rumored resignation of secretary Noble. Hereplied: "I received information last evening from Washington, from which I consider a reliable source, that Secretary Noble would shortly vacate his seat in the Cabinet, and I think it is nothing but proper that he should. His appointment was a great mistake."

great mistake."

"Do yov know if this step has been forced upon Mr. Noble or whether it is to be taken at his own volition?"

"Well, to tell the truth, I don't think he has any volition. If he were to go out West and try to make a living by practicing law he would surely starve to death. He has not got the judgment and decision requisite to success in high office." "Do you know of your own personal knowledge that any pressure has been brought to bear upon Secretary Noble?"

"Have the Indian troubles or the Pension Bureau scandals had anything to do with his resignation?"

"I cannot say. His entire administration of his office has been a lame affair. He is quite out of place in the Cabinet."

quite out of place in the Cabinet."

"Have you any idea, Senator, who will be named to succeed Secretary Noble?"

"I have not. I know that he is to vacate, and that is all. I cannot tell you whether his successor will be from the West or from the South, or from any other point."

"From what locality do you think the next Secretary of the Interior should come?"

"I cannot say for the present. That is not of the greatest importance. The only thing certain is that the present Secretary will resign, Mr. Noble is an honest man, a well-meaning man, but he is not of this generation. He is not competent to administer the affairs of the interior."

CONSERVATIVES STARTLED

At the Liberal Victory in the North Buckinghamshire Election.

[Copyright Cable to The Times.] LONDON, May 30 .- The outcome of the North Buckinghamshire election has greatly intensified the depression caused in Conservaintensified the depression caused in Conservative circles by the results of the other byelections. To judge from the current talk at the Conservative clubs, it might be supposed that the party had lost a general election, or, at all events, that the Government had sustained a decisive parliamentary defeat.

This is not surprising when it is borne in mind that the belief in a strong Conservative reaction has been for weeks past an article of faith in ministerial circles, and the result of the earlier elections gave some sort of justification to the theory.

cation to the theory.

The expectation that free education would prove an enormous bribe in the case of the agricultural laborers was universal on the agricultural laborers was universal on the Conservative benches, even among those members who were most hostile to the new departure. In regard to North Buckinghamshire, too, the local party managers seem to have been as absurdly over-sanguine as they were in the Stow-Market division. The reports which reached Conservative headquarters right up to the day of polling seem to have given the idea that the election of the Conservative candidate by a small but sufficient majority was assured. Naturally enough the Conservative managers in London are now asking themselves, as the reenough the Conservative managers in London are now asking themselves, as the reports from the localities which have been tested have been so misleading, whether they rely on the sauguine estimates of the local agents in other parts of the country and whether the Conservative reaction, the existence of which theory has so nearly brought about an election, is not altogetive a figment. The main result of the disappointment of the ministerialists has been to bring to the fore the old Tory element which is much stronger at the party clubs than in is much stronger at the party clubs than in the House. The Tories are now calling reremp-torily for the abandonment of the education

It is in their eyes a radical measure, which has been forced upon Lord Salisbury by Mr. Goschen and Mr. Chamberlain, which has failed entirely in the matter of purchasing votes and which the Government would do well to throw back again into the radical respectively some recovery. pertorytas soon as possible. Once more Mr. Goschen, after a brief space of general popularity, is in danger of becoming the best abused man in the Government in all places where Conservatives congregate. A wealthy peer who has been one of the financial mainstays of the Conservatives of recent years said last night that he trusted that a general election would come and the Government be defeated, as he would much prefer supporting an honest, Conse tive opposition of twenty men to seeing a Con-servative majority in Parliament merely car-rying out the "dictates of Birmingham." In Ireland the signs of Mr. Parnell's discomfiture are growing more and more visible every day. The National League is almost dead. Its funds are about exhausted and no money comes in to replenish the treasury On the other hand not only have the McCarthyite, or as it is called in Ireland, the Ho Rule party, the fixed organization of the priests on their side, but the federation is growing and expanding and its power spreading throughout the whole country.

The French Chamber of Deputies is going ahead as rapidly as possible with the tariff, following almost without variation the recommendations of the committee. The tax on pork is intended to be as nearly prohibion pork is intended to be as nearly promoted to yet as possible for the American article without provoking retaliation. Indeed it is admitted to be for the express purpose of excluding American pork, the United States being the only country that exports pork to France in any large quantities, but the advocates of high protection for the French pig uttered the hope that by not naming the American product they would not bring France within the retaliatory provisions of the McKinley law.

of the McKinley law.

In other respects, also, the protective element is carrying everything before it. Much to the injury of British commerce with France and England it is proposed to retaliate by a higher duty on French brandies. There is little doubt that this will be done. Meantime Germany and Austria are going ahead to draw other continental pations executing France. other continental nations, excepting France, into a vast reciprocity arrangement that, while affording protection to industry, commercial intercourse will facilitate commercial intercourse, Switzerland has already consented informally to join the arrangement, and Italy and Holland are expected. Belgium is already practically a free trade country. Austria and Hungary are joining the outery against the inundation of Russian and Polish Jews driven from their homes by Russian barbarity. Prominent Lews and friendly barbarity. Prominent Jews and friendly newspapers in those countries are protesting against the additions of tens of thousands of destitute people to the population of an empire which their presence can only add to the hardship already borne by the native Jews. The Jewish-Hungarian poet, Kiss, who is highly respected throughout Hungary, says that for every one of those wretched, ignorant and uncivilized but oppressed creatures who lands in London or Liverpool ten are marching over the cornethians into unreal Hungary. over the carpathlans into upper Hungary, whence they soon descend upon the cities and fall victims to Sweators.

EUROFEAN NOTES.

It is now believed in British Government circles that the threat of the Chilian insurgents to bombard Valpariaso was never intended to be carried out, but was offered with a view of leading European Governments to compel Balmaceda to make peace. If this was the plan it has failed. England will not interfere except upon imminent peril of bombardment, and then only to prevent the rebels from destroying the property of British subfrom destroying the property of British sub-that can hardly fail to be gratifying to the Colonists. For this they have chiefly to thank their own firmness and partly also the stubborn opposition of the French to the British policy in Egypt, which has at length began to excite the bile of the phlegmatic Briton. Insult to the British flag on the Queen's birthday capped the climax as evidence that the Newfound landers meant defiance, and it would have involved the certain downfall of the Government had Lord Salisbury used the British army and navy to coerce a British colony in support of the obnoxious French.

Nearly all the ministers are giving grand dinners to-night in honor of the Queen's recent birthday. Lord and Lady Salisbury held a State reception at the foreign office after their banquet. All the high notabilities are in attendance. The celebration of the event is general throughout England. Troops are everywhere put through dress parade.

SIR JOHN'S CONDITION.

The Canadian Premier Continually Growing Worse.

OTTAWA, ONT., May 30 .- Sir Hector Langevin and nearly all the Cabinet Ministers are at Ernscliffe, the home of isters are at Ernscliffe, the home of Sir John Macdonald. Lady Macdonald remained in the sick room until 4 o'clock this morning, when she took a short walk on the lawn. She looks very pals and her face shows traces of great suffering. The following bulletins have been issued in regard to Sir John Macdonald's condition: 12:39 P. M.—A reliable person who has just arrived from Ernscliffe says Sir John's condition at noon remained unchanged. He is perfectly conscious and can make his wants known, but cannot speak. The situation is such that he may possibly linger for some time or die at any moment.

11:37.—A consultation of physicians is now being held. Sir John's case is hopeless. He retains consciousness but suffers no pain. His efforts to speak are pathetic. He was

He next moved to Wayne, Neb. Here he married again. His second matrimonial adventure was worse than the first. He determined to get rid of wife No. 2, and accordingly smothered her with the bed-clothes. ingly smothered her with the bed-clothes. Considerable suspicion attached to the second murderous feat of Sewald. The coroner of Wayne investigated but failed to procure evidence strong enough to fasten the guilt on Sewald. He then came to California and settled near Sutterville, where he lived up to the present time. His neighbors declare that he is in no wise insane, but has acted like a man who was in great mental trouble. After informing the judge of the above facts, he said he was glad that he has at last unburdened himself, and expressed a wish that he be lock. himself, and expressed a wish that he be lock ed up for his crimes.
